Students will design, code, and share video games with their friends using Codespark Academy, a website introduced to our students through their weekly technology class with Mrs. Janet. Our first session will meet for five Mondays in February and March. The cost is $125 per student.